As a dog returns to its vomit, so a fool repeats his foolishness.

There is more hope for fools than for people who think they are wise.

The lazy person claims, "There is a lion on the road! Yes, I'm sure there's a lion out there!"

As a door swings back and forth on its hinges, so the lazy person turns over in bed.

Lazy people take food in their hand but don't even lift it to their mouth.

Lazy people consider themselves smarter than seven wise counsellors.

The world, it seems to me, is divided into the wise, who know they are fools, and the fools, who think they are wise
Peter Kreeft

We may not be able to prevent other people from being our enemies, but we can prevent ourselves from being enemies toward others.
Warren Wiersbe

Never be a judge between thy friends in any matter where both set their hearts upon the victory. If strangers or enemies be litigants, whatever side thou favourest, thou gettest a friend; but when friends are the parties thou losest one.
Jeremy Taylor

It is much safer to reconcile an enemy than to conquer him; victory may deprive him of his poison, but reconciliation of his will.
Owen Feltham

Cherish your enemies; they may be blessings in disguise.
Woodrow Kroll

Ingathering. Please let me know if you are willing to take a can and go out collecting. There is a list on the desk of those that had cans last year; if your name is not on the list, please write it in together with how many can(s) you would like.. Thank you.

Dr. James Dobson reports the findings of an interesting study done on school children in his film series "Focus on the Family." A group of educators decided to remove the chain-like fences from around the school playgrounds. They believed the fences promoted feelings of confinement and restraint. The curious thing they noticed, however, was that as soon as the fences were removed, the children huddled in the centre of the playground to play. Conclusion: Children need boundaries
