Then, accompanied by his disciples, Jesus left the upstairs room and went as usual to the Mount of Olives. There he told them, " Pray that you will not give in to temptation.." He walked away about a stone's throw and knelt down and prayed. ~"Father, if you are willing, please take this cup of suffering away from me. Yet I want your will to be done, not mine." Then an angel from heaven appeared and strengthened him. He prayed more fervently, and was in such agony of spirit that his sweat fell to the ground as great drops of blood. Luke 22:39+

Preacher: Preacher Muguza

Though a man of sorrow, He was even on earth anointed with the oil of gladness above His fellows. Does this seem strange?... Shall we wonder that there was divine gladness in the heart of Him who came into this world not by constraint but willingly, not with a burning sense of wrong but with a grateful sense of high privilege, and that He had a blessed consciousness of fellowship with His Father who sent Him, during the whole of His pilgrimage through this vale of tears? A. B. Bruce

The purpose of Jesus' death was to glorify the Father. To be willing as the Son of God to suffer the loss of so much glory Himself in order to repair the injury done to God's glory by our sin showed how infinitely valuable the glory of God is. To be sure, the death of Christ also shows God's love for us. But we are not at the centre. John Piper

Upon a life I did not live, upon a death I did not die, I risk my whole eternity on the resurrection. C. H. Spurgeon

Our Lord has written the promise of the resurrection, not in books alone, but in every leaf in spring-time.
Martin Luther

It has been noticed that some mobile phones interfere with the microphone system in the Church.
We would therefore request that mobiles are turned off, or at least put in 'Aeroplane Mode' during the services. Thank you

In the year A.D. 303, the Roman Emperor Diocletian issued a decree that he hoped would extinguish the spreading flames of Christianity. One of his primary objectives was the seizure and destruction of the Christian Scriptures. Later that year, officials enforced the decree in North Africa. One of the targets was Felix, the Bishop of Tibjuca, a village near Carthage. The Roman authorities ordered Felix to hand over his Scriptures. Though some governors were willing to accept scraps of parchment, Felix refused to surrender the Word of God at the insistence of mere men.
Resolutely, he resisted compromise before the proconsul at Carthage. Felix paid for his perseverance with his life. On July 15, he laid down his life - as the record puts it, "with pious obstinacy," rather than surrender his scriptures.
