The LORD gave another message to ~Jeremiah. He said, "Go down to the potter's shop, and I will speak to you there." So I did as He told me and found the potter working at his wheel. But the jar he was making did not turn out as he had hoped, and he crushed it into a lump of clay again and started over. The LORD gave me this message. "O Israel, can I not do as this potter has done to his clay? As the clay is in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand. If I announce that a certain nation or kingdom is to me uprooted, torn down or destroyed, but then that nation renounces its evil ways, I will not destroy it as I had planned. And if I announce that I will build up a certain nation or kingdom, but that nation turns to evil and refuses to obey me, I will not bless it as I said I would." Jer. 18:1+

Prayer in the sense of petition, asking for things, is a small part of it; confession and penitence are its threshold, adoration its sanctuary, the presence and vision and enjoyment of God its bread and wine. C.S. Lewis

Self-love vitiates all relationships. Diotrefes slandered (the Apostle) John, cold-shouldered the missionaries and excommunicated loyal believers-all because he loved himself and wanted to have pre-eminence. Personal vanity still lies at the root of most dissensions today.

John Stott

God is more interested in your future and your relationships than you are. Billy Graham

When you are in the furnace, your Father keeps His eye on the clock and His hand on the thermostat. He knows just how much we can take. Warren Wiersbe

Immanuel will bring lasting, true peace. (Isa 7:14) Not just an end to physical war, although that is what we usually think of when we think of peace. No, this is a deeper peace. A peace between us and God. True reconciliation between the Creator and his creatures.
Through Immanuel's life for us and his death for us we will be at peace with God. This isn't our doing. We didn't make the peace. We didn't even take the first step. God did.
Because that is God's attitude toward us: always seeking, always restoring, always saving. Immanuel comes to show us that we matter, each and every one of us, to God. Charles St-Onge

Henry Crowell, founder of the Quaker Oats Company and a significant contributor to the work of Moody Bible Institute knew how to use money wisely. As a young man, he received Christ as his Saviour. When he began his business career in a little Ohio factory, he promised God that he would honour Him in his giving. God's blessing was upon him; and, as his business grew, he increased his giving. After more than forty years of giving 60 percent of his income to God, Crowell testified, "I've never gotten ahead of God. He has always been ahead of me in giving".
