When I look up at thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars set in their place by thee, what is man that thou shouldst remember him, mortal man, that thou shouldst care for him?
Yet thou hast made him little less than a god, crowning him with glory and honour.
Thou makest him master over all thy creatures; thou hast put everything under his feet: all sheep and oxen, all the wild beasts, the birds of the air and the fish of the sea, and all that moves along the paths of the ocean.

Preacher: tba

The unceasing activity of the Creator, whereby in overflowing bounty and goodwill, He upholds His creatures in ordered existence, guides and governs all events, circumstances, and free acts of angels and men, and directs everything to its appointed goal, for His own glory
J.L. Packer
God built into the creation a variety of cultural spheres, such as the family, economics, politics, art, and intellectual inquiry. Each of these spheres has its own proper "business" and needs its own unique pattern of authority. When we confuse spheres, by violating the proper boundaries, we transgress the patterns that God has set.
Abraham Kuyper
We have no strict demonstration of anything, except mathematical truths, but by metaphysics. We can have no proof that is properly demonstrative, of any one position relating to the being and nature of God, his creation of the world, the dependence of all things on him, the nature of bodies and spirits, the nature of our own souls, or any of the great truths of morality and natural religion, but what is metaphysical.
Jonathan Edwards
If you have men who will exclude any of God's creatures from the shelter of compassion and pity, you will have men who deal likewise with their fellow men.
Francis of Assisi
A difficult crisis can be more readily endured if we retain the conviction that our existence holds a purpose – a cause to pursue, a person to love, a goal to achieve.
John Maxwell

A woman of wealth was somewhat overwhelmed when a complete stranger approached her on the street and talked to her about Christ and invited her to accept Him as Saviour. When she got home she told her husband what happened and he replied, "Well, if I had been there, I would have told him very quickly to go away and be about his business." The wife said, "If you had been there and heard him, you would have realized that he was about his business
