Soon afterwards Jesus went with his disciples to the village of Nain, and a huge crowd followed him. A funeral procession was coming out as he approached the village gate. The young man who had died was a widow's only son, and a large crowd from the village was with her. When the Lord saw her, his heart overflowed with compassion. "Don't cry," he said.
Then he walked over to the coffin and touched it, and the bearers stopped. "Young man," he said, "I tell you, get up." Then the dead boy sat up and began to talk.
And Jesus gave him back to his mother Luke 7:11+

Preacher : Mike Beamish

A Jesus who never wept could never wipe away my tears. C. H. Spurgeon

It is hard to imagine anything more tiresome and provoking than the conduct of Thomas... But it is impossible to imagine anything more patient and compassionate than our Lord's treatment of this weak disciple... Our Lord has many weak children in His family, many dull pupils in His school, many raw soldiers in His army, many lame sheep in His flock. Yet he bears with them all and casts none away. J. C. Ryle Compassion costs. It is easy enough to argue, criticize and condemn, but redemption is costly, and comfort draws from the deep. Brains can argue, but it takes heart to comfort. Samuel Chadwick

Man may dismiss compassion from his heart, but God never will. William Cowper

The truth is that there are such things as Christian tears, and too few of us ever weep them. John Stott

He puts Himself within the compass of our highest conception, in order that He may make Himself real to us in His love and sympathy and power. A. C. Dixon

O child of sorrow! Will not this suffice, that you possess Christ's sympathy, immeasurable and exhaustless as the ocean, exquisite and changeless as His being?
Yield your heart to His rich compassion! Will Jesus be regardless of what I feel, and the sorrows under which I groan? Oh no! The sigh that bursts in secret from my heart is not secret to Him; the tear that is my food day and night, and drops unperceived and unknown, is known and remembered by Him! Octavius Winslow

A little girl came home from a neighbour's house where her little friend had died. "Why did you go?" questioned her father. "To comfort her mother," said the child. "What could you do to comfort her?" asked the father, curious as to what the child could do. "I climbed into her lap and cried with her."
