Is not all human life a struggle? Our lives are like that of a hired hand, like a worker who longs for the shade, like a servant waiting to be paid. I, too, have been assigned months of futility, Long and weary nights of misery. Lying in bed, I think, When will it be morning?
But the night drags on and I toss till dawn. My body is covered with maggots and scabs. My skin breaks open oozing with pus. My days fly faster than a weaver's shuttle. They end without hope. O God, remember that my life is but a breath, and I will never again feel happiness Job 7:1+

Preacher: Pr. Jovan Adamović

I am now the most miserable man living. If what I feel equally distributed to the whole human family, there would not be one cheerful face on the earth. Whether I shall ever be better, I cannot tell; I awfully forebode I shall not. To remain as I am is impossible. I must die or be better, it appears to me. Abraham Lincoln Poor human nature cannot bear such strains as heavenly triumphs bring to it; there must come a reaction. Excess of joy or excitement must be paid for by subsequent depressions. While the trial lasts, the strength is equal to the emergency; but when it is over, natural weakness claims the right to show itself.

C. H. Spurgeon

There are various kinds of depression, to be sure, and some are the result of complex physical and psychological disorders. But there are times when we are spiritually depressed for no good reason. There are times when the best thing to do with our feelings is to challenge them: "Why are you cast down, O my soul, and why are you in turmoil within me? Hope in God; for I shall again praise Him, my salvation and my God" (Ps.
42:11). Derek Thomas

Poverty and affliction take away the fuel that feeds pride. Richard Sibbes

God can do wonders with a broken heart if you give him all the pieces. Victor Alfsen

God does not waste suffering nor does he discipline out of caprice. If He ploughs, it is because He purposes a crop. J.O. Sanders

One morning in 1866, C. H. Spurgeon shocked 5,000 listeners from the pulpit of London's Metropolitan Tabernacle he announced, "I am the subject of depressions of spirit so fearful that I hope none of you ever gets to such extremes of wretchedness as I go to." Martin Luther was subject to such fits of darkness that he would hide himself away for days, and his family would remove all dangerous implements from the house for fear he would harm himself. At one point in his depression his wife entered the room he was in. She was dressed totally in black. Luther asked who died and she said by the way he was acting God must have.
