Then he made the disciples embark and go on ahead to the other side, while he sent the people away; after doing that, he went up the hill-side to pray alone. It grew late, and he was there by himself. The boat was already some furlongs from the shore, battling with a head-wind and a rough sea. Between three and six in the morning he came to them, walking over the lake. When the disciples saw him walking on the lake they were so shaken that they cried out in terror: 'It is a ghost!' But at once he spoke to them, 'Take heart! It is I; do not be afraid.'
Matt 14:22+

If I profess with the loudest voice and clearest exposition every portion of the truth of God except precisely that little point which the world and the devil are at the moment attacking, I am not confessing Christ, however boldly I may be professing Christ. Where the battle rages, there the loyalty of the soldier is proved to be steady... [It] is mere flight and disgrace if he flinches at that point [of attack].
Martin Luther

The more I study nature, the more I am amazed at the Creator.
Louis Pasteur

Seeing the grandeur of the mountains or the power and expanse of the ocean, it's not hard to see how people throughout history have found themselves worshipping various aspects of nature. The psalmist was right to direct our attention beyond the mountains to the ultimate source, the Creator God. How fabulous that the Maker of the Mountains is also so personal in His love, so complete in His care!
Anon.

Reading about nature is fine, but if a person walks in the woods and listens carefully, he can learn more than what is in books, for they speak with the voice of God.
George Washington Carver

By the light of nature we see God as a God above us, by the light of the law we see Him as a God against us, but by the light of the gospel we see Him as Emmanuel, God with us.
Matthew Henry

Nature is but a name for an effect, whose cause is God.
William Cowper

. Ingathering

With one week gone and only one more to go, we have limited time to collect for those less fortunate. Our collection totals have been going down the last few years, so it's about time that they started going back up. This is an easy way to help others, all it needs is a little of your time.
