It is my ambition to bring the Gospel to places where the very name of Christ has not been heard, for I do not want to build on another man's foundation; but, as scripture says, 'They who had no news of him shall see, and they who never heard of him shall understand.' That is why I have been prevented all this time from coming to you. But now I have no further scope in these parts, and I have been longing for many years to visit you on my way to Spain; for I hope to see you as I travel through, and to be sent there with your support after having enjoyed your company for a while. But at the moment I am on my way to Jerusalem, on an errand to God's people there. For Macedonia and Achaia have resolved to raise a common fund for the benefit of the poor among God's people there. Gal.5:20+

By studying the apostles' work in the New Testament, our only lead as to what a missionary actually is, we learn that missionaries are focused on these five responsibilities: 1. Evangelizing. 2. Congregationalising (starting churches). 3. Establishing elders in the churches. 4. Setting the churches in order (teaching them how to function and what to believe). 5. Remaining in contact with churches to offer guidance.

I would go to the deeps a hundred times to cheer a downcast spirit. It is good for me to have been afflicted, that I might know how to speak a word in season to one that is weary.

Charles Spurgeon

Christians are like the several flowers in a garden that have each of them the dew of heaven, which, being shaken with the wind, they let fall at each other's roots, whereby they are jointly nourished, and become nourishers of each other. John Bunyan

We best encourage not by being cuddly with people but by reminding them of the promises of God. Encouragement from God for the people of God comes from the word of God. I am not depreciating the helpfulness of the personal touch or care, but in an age that wallows in "caring" and "sensitivity" on every hand believers need to know that solid encouragement comes not from emotional closeness but from God's speech. Dale Ralph Davis

Too often our gratitude is dependent upon the circumstances of life. A beautiful hymn was written by Martin Rinkart during the thirty-year war to help us look beyond our circumstances and see the hand of God. Rinkart was a pastor in Saxony, Germany as the turbulent years of the war dragged on. For a time he was the only pastor in his town. His pastoral duties caused him to preside at nearly 4500 burials in 1637 alone. In the context of this sad situation and these unfavourable circumstances he penned the words to Now Thank We All Our God. It is a hymn of unconditional gratitude to God. Now thank we all our God, With Heart, hands, and voices who wondrous things has done In whom his world rejoices Thankful people don't have to have everything going their way to rejoice.
