Saul kept on threatening to kill the Lord's followers. He even went to the High Priest and asked for letters to the Jewish leaders in Damascus. He did this because he wanted to arrest and take to Jerusalem any man or woman who had accepted the Lord's Way. When saul has almost reached Damascus. A bright light from heaven suddenly flashed around him, he fell to the ground and heard a voice that said, "Saul! Saul! Why are you so cruel to Me?" "Who are you?" Saul asked. "I am Jesus," the Lord answered. I am the one you are so cruel to. Now get up and go into the city, where you will be told what to do." Acts 9:1+

Life can knock us to the ground sometimes, but God promises us that we don't have to stay there. He equips up through His Word and His power to be more than conquerors! Christine Caine

The men who followed Him were unique in their generation. They turned the world upside down because their hearts had been turned right side up. The world has never been the same. Billy Graham

The God Who can change a sinner into a Christian by giving him His life can equally transform the fleshly Christian into a spiritual one by giving him His life more abundantly. Watchman Nee

The cross that Paul speaks about was burned into his very flesh, was branded into his being, and only the Holy Spirit can burn the true cross into our innermost life. A. B. Simpson

No man hath a right to claim God as his Father, unless he feeleth in his soul, and believeth, solemnly, through the faith of God's election, that he has been adopted into the one family of which is in heaven and earth, and that he has been regenerated or born again. Charles Spurgeon

Do we give sufficient attention to the theme of gaining Christ? It is our joy and privilege to know Him as God's unspeakable gift, but none knew this more fully than the apostle Paul. But was he satisfied with this knowledge? Or was Paul's soul-consuming desire, at all possible cost, to gain Christ; and thus to know Him, and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings? Oh that Christ may be so known by us as a 'living, bright reality' that our one desire-our one absorbing heart-passion may be that we personally gain Christ-that we personally know Him as the apostle longed to do. James Hudson Taylor

, "There is hope, much of which comes in the name of Christ. One telling statistic reveals the fruit of two centuries of faithful mission work: to India's 700 million people, only 2.7 % call themselves Christian, and yet Christians are responsible for more than 18% of the nation's health care. A population comprising Hindus, Moslems, Sikhs, Jains, Parsis, and Communists, receives its medical care from people trained in places like the Christian Medical College Hospital in Vellore. The Christians have given India an inspired legacy of education and medicine. If you say the world "Christian" to an Indian peasant--who may never have heard of Jesus Christ--the first image to pop into her mind may well be that of a hospital, or of a medical van that stops by her village once a month to provide free, personal care in Christ's name. It's certainly not the whole of the Gospel, but it's not a bad place to start. " Philip Yancey
