Rehoboam went to Sechem where everyone was waiting to crown him king,'Jerroboam, son of Nebat heard what was happening and stayed in Egypt ,, where he had gone to hide from Solomon. But the people from the northern tribes of Israel sent for him. Then together they went to Rehoboam and said, "Your father, Solomon forced us to work very hard, but if you make our work easier, we will serve you and do what you ask." "Give me three days to think about it." Rehoboam replied, "then come back for my answer." So the people left. Rehoboam went to some leaders who had been his father's senior officials, and he asked them, "What shall I tell these people?" They answered, "If you want them to serve and obey you, then you should do what they ask today. Tell them you will make their work easier." 1Kings:12:1+

Believers are never told to become one; we already are one and are expected to act like it. Joni Eareckson Tada
God cares nothing about our manmade divisions and groups and is not interested in our self-righteous, hair-splitting, and religious, man-made formulas and organizations. He wants you to recognize the UNITY of the body of Christ. M.R, DeHaan
Many of our trouble occur because we base our choices on unreliable authorities; culture ("everyone is doing it"), tradition ("we've always done it"), reason ("it seems logical"), or emotion ("it just felt right"). Rick Warren

Our faithfulness becomes the stage for God to perform mighty deeds. Through us God works out His redemptive plan. It is not as if our decisions force God's hand, but He has mysteriously chosen to work in concert with human activity. Dean Ulrich
Sometimes it appears that doing what is right goes without obvious blessing or reward. Faithful service may not lead to recognition, maybe not even a thank you. And often, faithfulness, especially when it is to Christ and biblical principles, can lead to persecution. But as Christians we must never allow the absence of immediate reward or blessing to deter us from steadfast faithfulness... The promise of Scripture is that if we continue to be faithful to the Lord, we will eventually receive rewards for our efforts. If not in this life, definitely in the life to come J. Hampton Keathley
God always gives His best to those who leave the choice with Him. Jim Elliot
What ever disunites man from God, also disunites man from man. Edmund Burke
Be united with other Christians. A wall with loose bricks is not good. The bricks must be cemented together. Corrie ten Boom
If you have not chosen the Kingdom of God first, it will in the end make no difference what you have chosen instead. William Law
I have never yet known the Spirit of God to work where the Lord's people were divided. D.L. Moody

In 1998, Larry Page and Sergey Brin picked the number one followed by 100 zeroes while they were still graduate students at Stanford University. That number in mathematical terms is called a googol, and that became the name of their new enterprise. Today, Google operates the largest search engine in the world with internet users performing hundreds of millions searches a day. Jim Reese, chief operations engineer of Google, says this about Brin and Page: "It takes a lot of confidence and courage to go ahead and do that [i.e., to be that big]. It's rare to find people who think on such a grand scale and are able to create a great product at the same time." (FreshMinistry.org, 11-5-02) Google's founders were dreamers, and that's what it takes to accomplish great things. It takes a great dream to do great things, and that's true not only in business but also in the ministry to which God has called us.
