Jesus said: "The kingdom of Heaven is like what happened one night when ten girls took their oil lamps and went to a wedding to meet the groom, Five of the girls were foolish and five of the girls were wise. The foolish girls took their lamps but no extra oil. The ones who were wise took along extra oil for their lamps. The groom was late arriving, and the girls became drowsy and fell asleep.. Then in the middle of the night someone shouted," Here's the groom! come to greet him!" When the girls got up and started getting their lamps ready, the foolish ones said, "Let us have some of your oil! Our lamps are going out!" The girls who were wise answered, "There's not enough for all of us! Go and buy some for yourselves." Matt 25:1+

Let us consider this settled: that no one who has made progress in the school of Christ who does not joyfully await the day of death and final resurrection... Let us not hesitate to await the Lord's coming, not only with longing, but also with groaning and sighs, as the happiest thing of all. He will come to us as Redeemer. John Calvin

When the time comes for you to die, you need not be afraid, because death cannot separate you from God's love. C.H. Spurgeon

He who created us without our help will not save us without our consent. Augustine

And now let me address all of you, high and low, rich and poor, one with another, to accept of mercy and grace while it is offered to you; Now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation; and will you not accept it, now it is offered unto you? George Whitefield.

What ground is left for accusation since sin's penalty has been fully paid? The blood of the Lord has atoned for all the sins of a believer; hence there is no more condemnation in the conscience. Watchman Nee

The glorious good news of the gospel is that the sin-devastated relationship between lost sinners and the holy God can be restored. That at first glance seems impossible. God's perfect, infinite, righteous justice demands the punishment of all who violate His law. Standing before the bar of His justice are helpless, guilty sinners, unable either to satisfy God or to change their condition. But through God's plan of reconciliation all the hostility, animosity, and alienation separating the Holy One and sinners vanishes, and those who were once His enemies become His friends. The high calling and noble privilege of preaching this message of reconciliation is the most important duty in the world, since it deals with eternal destinations. John MacArthur

More than a century ago, two sportsmen were sailing along the coasts of Scotland. They anchored their yacht in the harbour at Inverness and went ashore to roam the beautiful countryside. Soon they became lost. Darkness was approaching and they couldn't find their way back to the harbour. They knocked at the door of a peasant's cottage, asking for a meal and lodging for the night. The farmer viewed them with suspicion and sent them away. Knocking at the door of a neighbouring farm, the owner welcomed the strangers into his house. He sat them at a table laden with food. He gave them a bed and breakfast. Only in the morning did he discover that one of the two was the Prince of Wales, later to become King Edward V. Imagine the shame and disappointment of the first farmer who closed his door against his king! This story begs a question. Have you opened the door of your heart to the King of kings? If not, see Him weeping over you. He wants to be your Saviour and King..
