This is what you must write to the angel of the church at Pergamum. I am the One who has the sharp double-edged sword!. Listen to what I say. I know you live where Satan has his throne. But you have kept true to my name. There where Satan lives, my faithful witness Antipas was taken from you and put to death. Even then you did not give up your faith in me. I do have a few things against you/ Some of you are following the teachings of Balaam. Long ago he told Balak to teach the people of Israel to eat food that had been offered to idols and to be immoral.

Rev. 2 12+

No one is so empty as the man who has stopped walking with God and doesn't know it.

Jerry White

Every Christian would agree that a man's spiritual health is exactly proportional to his love for God.

Worship is basically adoration, and we adore only what delights us. There is no such thing as sad adoration or unhappy praise.

John Piper

You don't have to go to heathen lands today to find false gods. America is full of them. Whatever you love more than God is your idol.

D.L. Moody

Did you ever notice how recent major theological shifts in the church (acceptance of evolution, fornication, so-called "gay marriage," self-esteem, etc.), have not come as a result of Christians studying their Bibles. Rather, the shifts have come from the pressure of the world that has persuaded Christians to believe contrary to what is in their Bible.

Randy Smith

There is a fine line between healthy parental love and child worship. We know the latter has happened when we begin compromising God's will for the sake of our children or their activities... Compromise always points to idolatry. It displeases God. He does not like competitors, especially when they are our children.

William Farley

People often ask me why it seems like God isn't moving in the West like He is elsewhere. Jesus said He is the Bread of Life, but in order to eat the Bread, you first have to be hungry. I think too many of us leave the Bread on the table because we're full on everything else the world has to offer. It's not that we don't have the Bread, it's just that we don't eat it because we're not hungry!

Darren Wilson

"A miserable looking woman recognized F.B. Meyer (preacher and teacher) on the train and ventured to share her burden with him. For years she had cared for a crippled daughter who brought great joy to her life. She made tea for her each morning, then left for work, knowing that in the evening the daughter would be there when she arrived home. But the daughter had died, and the grieving mother was alone and miserable. Home was not "home" anymore. Meyer gave her wise counsel. "When you get home and put the key in the door, say aloud, 'Jesus, I know You are here!' and be ready to greet Him directly when you open the door. And as you light the fire tell Him what has happened during the day; if anybody has been kind, tell Him; if anybody has been unkind, tell Him, just as you would have told your daughter. At night stretch out your hand in the darkness and say, 'Jesus, I know You are here!'" Some months later, Meyer was back in that neighbourhood and met the woman again, but he did not recognize her. Her face radiated joy instead of announcing misery. "I did as you told me," she said, "and it has made all the difference in my life, and now I feel I know Him."
