Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus. Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God; but made himself of no Reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men;. And being found in fashion as a man, he humbles himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Phil. 2:4+

[Love is] a selfless and enduring commitment of the will to care about and benefit another person by righteous, truthful, and compassionate thoughts, words and actions. Stuart Scott
What does love look like? It has the hands to help others. It has the feet to hasten to the poor and needy. It has the eyes to see misery and want. It has the ears to hear the sighs and sorrows of men. That is what love looks like. Augustine
Love is a commitment of the will to the true good of another person J. Budziszewski

The moment an ill can be patiently handled, it is disarmed of its poison, though not of its pain H. W. Beecher
Have patience with all things, but chiefly have patience with yourself. Do not lose courage in considering your own imperfections, but instantly set about remedying them - every day begin the task anew. Francis De Sales
A great many people are trying to make peace, but that has already been done. God has not left it for us to do; all we have to do – is to enter into it. Dwight L. Moody
When you resort to shouting in conflict, you are reacting in the flesh. You have lost control of the only person you can control: yourself. Neil T. Anderson
No form of vice, not worldliness, not greed of gold, not drunkenness itself, does more to un-Christianize society than evil temper. For embittering life, for breaking communities, for destroying the most sacred relationships, for devastating homes, for withering up men and women, for taking the bloom off childhood; in short, for sheer gratuitous misery-producing power, this influence stands alone. Henry Drummond
Uncontrolled temper is soon dissipated on others. Resentment, bitterness, and self-pity build up inside our hearts and eat away at our spiritual lives like a slowly spreading cancer. Jerry Bridges
When we’re angry at people and circumstances, we are really lashing out at God’s good providence. Instead of kissing the hand that afflicts us, we’re demanding that God order our lives by our script, our assessment of people, our comfort level. Jerry Wragg

French novelist and playwright Alexander Dumas once had a heated quarrel with a rising young politician. The argument became so intense that a duel was inevitable. Since both men were very fast and superb shots they decided to draw lots, the loser agreeing to shoot himself. Dumas lost. Pistol in hand, he withdrew in silent dignity to another room, closing the door behind him. The rest of the company waited in gloomy suspense for the shot that would end his career. It rang out at last. His friends ran to the door, opened it, and found Dumas, smoking revolver in hand. "Gentlemen, a most regrettable thing has happened," he announced. "I missed."
