I will sing of mercy and judgment; unto thee, O LORD, will I sing. I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way. O when wilt thou come unto me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart. I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes; I will hate the work of them that turn aside; it shall not cleave to me. A forward heart shall depart from me: I will not know a wicked person Whoso privily slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath a high look and a proud heart will not I suffer. Psalm 101:1+

Your Lord is a God of mercy and bountifulness: be a source of mercy and bountifulness to your neighbours. If you will be such, you will find salvation yourself with everlasting glory. John of Kronstadt

The first point of wisdom is to discern that which is false; the second, to know that which is true. Lucius Caellijs Lanctantius

Where there is charity and wisdom, there is neither fear nor ignorance. Francis of Assisi

What Jesus prohibits...is sinful, improper judging. It is the hypocrisy of condemning others but failing to see one's own glaring sins. Jesus forbids self-righteous criticism, a hypercritical spirit, and a harsh, fault-finding mindset. Alexander Strauch

[The one] who judges according to the word and law of the Lord, and forms his judgments by the rule of charity, always begins with subjecting himself to examination, and preserves a proper medium and order in his judgments. John Calvin

Justice is a matter of taking the side of the weak against the strong, something the best people have always done. Harriet Beecher Stowe

Mercy, detached from Justice, grows unmerciful. C. S. Lewis

The Gospel is good news of mercy to the undeserving. The symbol of the religion of Jesus is the cross, not the scales. John Stott

Mercy requires that we learn to love others, to value their welfare more than our own! John Hagee

. John Wesley, who, on one winter day, met a poor girl in one of the schools under his care. She seemed almost frozen. He asked her if she had no clothing but the thin garments she was wearing. She said she had not. His hand was in his pocket in an instant, but there was no money there. He went to his room, but the pictures on it seemed to upbraid him. He took them down, saying to himself: "How can the Master say to thee, 'Well done, good and faithful servant'? Thou hast adorned thy walls with the money which might have screened this poor creature from the bitter cold! O justice! O mercy! Are not these pictures the blood of the poor maid?" So he sold the pictures to get money to relieve the girl's distress.
