But when Jesus knew it, he withdrew himself from thence: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all; and charged them that they should not make him known; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, saying, Behold my servant, whom I have chosen, my beloved, in whom my soul is well pleased: I will put my Spirit upon him and he shall show judgment to the Gentiles. He shall not strive, or cry; neither shall any man hear his voice in the streets. A bruised reed he shall not break, and smoking flax shall he not quench, till he send judgment forth unto victory. And in his name shall the Gentiles trust. Matt. 12:15+

The gospel which they so greatly needed they would not have; the miracles which Jesus did not always choose to give, they eagerly demanded. Charles Spurgeon
Man may dismiss compassion from his heart, but God never will. William Cowper

Preacher: Adriana Fodor

It is hard to imagine anything more tiresome and provoking than the conduct of Thomas... But it is impossible to imagine anything more patient and compassionate than our Lord's treatment of this weak disciple... Our Lord has many weak children in His family, many dull pupils in His school, many raw soldiers in His army, many lame sheep in His flock. Yet he bears with them all and casts none away. J. C. Ryle
Remember that even Jesus' most scathing denunciation – a blistering diatribe against the religious leaders of Jerusalem in Matthew 23 – ends with Christ weeping over Jerusalem (v. 37). Compassion coloured everything He did. John MacArthur
Jesus produced mainly three effects: hatred, terror, adoration. There was no trace of people expressing mild approval. C. S. Lewis
Jesus did not come to reward the deserving but to serve the needy with reckless abandon. David Garland
He began His ministry by being hungry, yet He is the Bread of Life. Jesus ended His earthly ministry by being thirsty, yet He is the Living Water. Jesus was weary, yet He is our rest. Jesus paid tribute, yet He is the King. Jesus was accused of having a demon, yet He cast out demons. Jesus wept, yet He wipes away our tears. Jesus was sold for thirty pieces of silver, yet He redeemed the world. Jesus was brought as a lamb to the slaughter, yet He is the Good Shepherd. Jesus died, yet by His death He destroyed the power of death. Gregory Of Nazianzus
His is a loving, tender hand, full of sympathy and compassion D. L. Moody

A wounded soldier returned from Viet Nam. He was in critical condition. He was blind, his mind was clouded, and his body was mangled. His mother travelled over 2,000 miles to be by his bedside. As soon as she entered the hospital room she laid her hands on his brow without saying a word. Instantly he said, "Mother, is that you? It must be you!" She hadn't spoken, but he knew the tender touch of her hand. That's the way it is with God. We can't see Him, and yet we feel His touch. upon our lives. We speak to Him but receive no audible answer. And yet we leave His presence calmed and consoled as a child
