Ye have heard that it has been said, An eye for and eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, that ye resist not evil: but whoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if a man shall sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow turn not away. Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love they neighbour and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, love thine enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for those who despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven; for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. Matt. 5:38+

A good man is kinder to his enemy, than a bad man to his friends. Bishop Hall.

When you have done a kindness, and your neighbour is the better for it, why need you be so foolish as to look any farther and gape for reputation and requital? Marcus Aurelius

Little self-denials, little honesties, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent victories over favourite temptations, - these are the silent threads of gold which, when woven together, gleam out so brightly in the pattern of life that God approves. Canon Farrar

Sometimes that given with a kindly hand if more acceptable than that given with a full one Plantus

If our plans are not for time, but for eternity, our knowledge and therefore our love to God—to each other—will progress for ever. C. Kingsly.

Do unto others as you would they should do unto you. This is the foundation of all moral law. Confucius

Rich presents, though profusely given, Are not so dear to righteous Heaven As gifts by honest gains supplied, Though small, which faith hath sanctified. Mahabharata

Life is short, and we have never too much time for gladdening the hearts of those who are travelling the dark journey with us. H. F. Amiel.

Years ago, a young mother was making her way across the hills of South Wales, carrying her tiny baby in her arms, when she was overtaken by a blinding blizzard. She never reached her destination, and when the blizzard had subsided her body was found by searchers beneath a mound of snow. But they discovered that before her death, she had taken off all her outer clothing and wrapped it about her baby. When they unwrapped the child, they found he was alive and well. She had moulded her body over his and given her life for her child, proving the depths of her mother love. Years later that child, David Lloyd George, grown to manhood, became a great statesman and prime minister of Great Britain.
