Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the Brethren. But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? My little children let us love not in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and in truth
1John 3:16+

Nothing humbles and breaks the heart of a sinner like mercy and love. Souls that converse much with sin and wrath, may be much terrified; but souls that converse much with grace and mercy, will be much humbled. Thomas Brooks

No obligation to justice does force a man to be cruel, or to use the sharpest sentence. A just man does justice to every man and to everything; and then, if he be also wise, he knows there is a debt of mercy and compassion due to the infirmities of man's nature; and that is to be paid; and he that is cruel and ungentle to a sinning person, and does the worst to him, is in his debt and is unjust. Jeremy Taylor

The most generous and merciful in judgment upon the faults of others, are always the most free from faults themselves.
James Aughey

Mercy requires that we learn to love others, to value their welfare more than our own! John Hagee Mercy is at the heart of redemptive ministry. Mercy is to extend to all without regard for race, or status, or gender, or age. And mercy is to be offered patiently toward those who are ignorant in unbelief. John MacArthur

Mercy is compassion in action. Anon.

Compassion is the deep feeling of sharing in the suffering of another and the desire to relieve that suffering. Jerry Bridges

Love your fellowmen, and cry about them if you cannot bring them to Christ. If you cannot save them, you can weep over them, you can give them your heart's tears while they are still in this body. Charles Spurgeon

The purpose of human life is to serve, and to show compassion and the will to help others. Albert Schweitzer

An Englishman by the name of Ebenezer Wooten had just concluded a preaching service in the village square. The crowd had dispersed, and he was busily engaged in loading the equipment. A young man approached him and asked, "Mr.
Wooten, what must I do to be saved?" Sensing that the fellow was trusting his own righteousness, Wooten answered in a rather unconcerned way, "It's too late!" The inquirer was startled.
"Oh don't say that, sir!" But the evangelist insisted, "It's too late!" Then, looking the young man in the eye, he continued, "You want to know what you must DO to be saved. I tell you it's too late now or any other time. The work of salvation is done, completed, finished! It was finished on the cross." Then he explained that our part is simply to acknowledge our sin and receive by faith the gift of forgiveness
