Now thanks be unto God which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and makest manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place. For we are unto God; a sweet savour of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them thqt perish. To the one we are the savour of death unto death; and to the other the savour of life unto life. And who is sufficient for these things?

2 Cor. 2:14+

Once we realize that Jesus has served us even to the depths of our meagreness, our selfishness, and our sin, nothing we encounter from others will be able to exhaust our determination to serve others for His sake. Oswald Chambers

Order your soul; reduce your wants; live in charity; associate in Christian community; obey the laws; trust in Providence.

Augustine

A man of a right spirit is not a man of narrow and private views, but is greatly interested and concerned for the good of the community to which he belongs, and particularly of the city or village in which he resides, and for the true welfare of the society of which he is a member.

Jonathan Edwards

When we love and respect people, revealing to them their value, they can begin to come out from behind the walls that protect them.

Jean Vanier

We ourselves feel that what we are doing is just a drop in the ocean . But the ocean would be less because of that missing drop.

Mother Teresa

The great paradox of faith is that we find our perfect freedom only when become slaves – slaves to God...In the ancient world, slaves judged their self-worth in relation to the importance of their masters. The greater the social status of a master, the greater the esteem of the slave. Christians are slaves of the greatest and kindest master of all.

Alister McGrath

Imagine thyself always to be the servant of all, and look upon all as if they were Christ our Lord in person; and so shalt thou do Him honour and reverence.

Teresa of Avila

Life becomes harder for us when we live for others, but it also becomes richer and happier.

Albert Schweitzer

There is a story of an Atlantic passenger lying in his bunk in a storm, deathly sick—seasick. A cry of “Man overboard!” was heard. The passenger thought, “God help the poor fellow. There is nothing I can do.” Then he thought at least he could put his lantern in the porthole, which he did. The man was rescued, and recounting the story the next day, he said, “I was going down in the darkness for the last time when someone put a light in a porthole. It shone on my hand, and a sailor in a lifeboat grabbed my hand and pulled me in.” Weakness is no excuse for our not putting forth all the little strength we have, and who can tell how God will use it?
